Result of examination:

Due to the limited nature of the writing, a definite conclusion was not reached whether the [REDACTED] signatures on specimens Q1 and Qc2 were or were not written by the same person.

FOI 1286-2 b7c

The typewriting on specimens Q5, Q6 and Q7 was produced by the same typewriter. This typewriting resembles Laboratory standards for a style of type found in Underwood brand typewriters.

The remaining specimens were typed on different typewriters; Qc2 on a Royal brand, Q3 on another style of Royal, and Q4 on an Olympia.

Nothing was observed in the paper or dog tag rubbing's of the submitted specimens that would assist in determining their source or in establishing a common source.

Specimens Q1 through Q7 have been photographed and are returned herewith.

INFORMATION CONCERNING*

This communication is classified ~~Secret~~ in its entirety.

On December 8, 1986, an employee of the Atlanta Division, FEDERAL BUREAU of INVESTIGATION (FBI), reported that [REDACTED] EO 12812 b7c

[REDACTED] during a conversation with one of the older Laotians, [REDACTED] the topic of Prisoners of War (POW's) and Missing in Action (MIA's) was discussed. [REDACTED] told these boys that prior to leaving Southeast Asia he was aware of a location where Americans were being held. He advised that he was fearful of contacting anyone in the United States Government, because he did not want to get into "trouble" and take a chance of being returned to his country which is now under communist rule. [REDACTED] related that he wanted to make sure that any information he might furnish is accurate and up-to-date. After being persuaded by the sons to make such information known, [REDACTED] advised that he would write a friend in Thailand and attempt to update the information. EO 12812 b7c

(C)

The DOD POW/MIA section of DIA is currently investigating several cases of a similar nature. The possibility exists that the SRV intelligence service is responsible for the dog tag etchings as a program to keep American interest in the POW/MIA issue and as a means of developing revenue, as persons on the certification purchase the remains or dog tags in hopes of being allowed to depart the SRV.

WFO is providing FBIHQ the above information for action deemed appropriate.

As FBIHQ is aware through coordination with the DOD POW/MIA section of DIA this appears to be another instance of the SRV intelligence service utilizing the dog tag etchings as a method of keeping U.S. interests in the POW/MIA issue.
